Contents

Volume 17, number 1

Editorials 1

Research policy and review 1. Taking the rest of the world seriously? The state of British urban and regional research in a time of economic crisis 7
N J Thrift

Economic-demographic modeling with endogenously determined birth and migration rates: theory and prospects 25
A M Isserman

Issues in national park administration 47
D I Brotherton

Economic explanations of spatial variation in distance deterrence
I R Gordon

Input-output models for regional demographic-economic analysis: some structural comparisons 73
P W J Batey

Structural-equation models of migration: an example from the Upper Midwest USA 101
M Cadwallader

A discriminant analysis of the 1980 Saõ Paulo industrial location survey 115
P M Townroe

Reviews 133

Volume 17, number 2

Guest editorials 147

Migration decisions of transfer applicants in the council housing sector 153
G C Smith, R G Ford

The role of attractiveness functions in the determination of equilibrium solutions to production-constrained spatial interaction models 175
M Clarke

Economic-demographic models for forecasting interregional migration 185
D A Plane, P A Rogerson

An empirical investigation on the social time-preference rate for the United Kingdom 199
E Kula

Spatial competition and agglomeration in urban modelling 213
A S Fotheringham

An adjustment model of regional production 231
G L Clark, M Gertler

The doubly constrained model of spatial interaction: a more general formulation 253
J Ledent

State Apparatus: Structures and Language of Legitimacy: review and reply 263
Theorising state structures: alternatives to functionalism and reductionism F Driver

Reviews 279

Volume 17, number 3

Editorial 293

Research policy and review 2. House-price statistics for the United Kingdom: a survey and critical review of recent developments 297
M C Fleming, J G Nellis

Stochastic panel-data models of urban shopping behaviour: 4. Incorporating independent variables into the NBD and Dirichlet models 319
N Wrigley, R Dunn

Employment change in permanent manufacturing plants: analysis and implications from an Irish case study 333
P N O'Farrell, R Crouchley

The household-composition matrix as a notion in multiregional forecasting of population and households 355
A Akkerman

Tests of randomness: unidimensional and multidimensional 373
L J Hubert, R G Golledge, C M Costanzo, N Gale

Transitions to chaos with increasing system complexity: the case of regional industrial systems 387
R W White

An adjacency constraint in agglomerative hierarchical classifications of geographic data 397
C R Margules, D P Faith, L Belbin

Disadvantaged households and areas of deprivation: microdata from the 1981 Census of Scotland 413
P L Knox

Reviews 427

Volume 17, number 4

Editorials 439

First Environment and Planning lecture 443
Synthetic geography: the nature of our understanding of cities
Britton Harris

Research policy and review 3. Raising the levels of ambition in research: some lessons from the journal 465
A G Wilson

Modification of the age transition model with implications for regional migration rates and their influence on the reproduction structure of a population 471
A P Afanasyev, S P Chebotarev, A N Ryazantsev

Location processes, urbanization, and territorial development: an exploratory essay 479
A J Scott

The urban rent question 503
M Ball

Productive decentralisation in three European regions 527
P Cooke, A da Rosa Pires

Production system models of residential search behavior: a comparison of behavior in computer-simulated and real-world environments 555
W A V Clark, T R Smith

Reviews 569

Volume 17, number 5

Guest editorials 581

Cellular worlds: a framework for modeling micro-macro dynamics 585
H Couclelis

A note on relaxed gravity models 597
Å Hallefjord, K Jörnsten

Owner-occupied housing in Europe: postwar developments and current dilemmas 605
M Martens

Spatial structure, spatial interaction, and their integration: a review of alternative models 625
R J Bennett, R P Haining, A G Wilson

Estimating housing mortality from loss records 647
M E Gleeson

The costs of urban sprawl: some new evidence 661
P Gordon, H L Wong

Distance-weighted geographic interpolation 667
G J G Upton

Misspecification in spatial interaction models: further results 673
M J Baxter

"Entropy and information theory": critique, comments, and reply 679
Entropy and information theory: are we missing something? C Fisk 679
Remarks on the most-probable-state approach to analyzing probabilistic theories of behavior T E Smith 688
Classical statistics versus information theory J W Weibull 696
Remarks on spatial distribution modelling S Erlander 699
Invited comment J R Roy, D F Batten 704
Short comment A Norcliffe 707
Response to authors' comments C Fisk 708

Reviews 711

Volume 17, number 6

Guest editorial 723

Theories of interregional trade and theories of value 729
T J Barnes

Shortcut 'input-output' multipliers: a requiem 747
R C Jensen, G J D Hewings

Normative versus heuristic models of residential search behavior: an empirical comparison 761
A G Phipps, R J Meyer

The influence of size, siting, age, and physical characteristics of factory premises on the survival and death of footwear manufacturing establishments in the East Midlands, UK 777
P R Mounfield, D J Unwin, K Guy

Computer-assisted telephone interviewing: an application in planning research 795
P K Doorn, F Dekker

Crowds and strategies for avoiding them in a densely settled region 815
T K Rudel

Age time and calendar time: two facets of the residential mobility process 829
